HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been married three years and up to the present time my married life has been very happy. Later, however, my husband seems very much interested in a charming young lady who has been a friend of the family. I have learned that he has taken her to the theater in a near-by city. Should I tell my husband that I do not approve of his actions or should I bravely bear them? I know if I tell him he will become terribly enraged, and when he is like that I fear him. Should I go home to my mother or what?

UNDECIDED.
It would be unwise to say anything to your husband unless you are sure what you have learned is true. If you are sure, you should say something. Don't let his anger make you afraid. You have the right to demand that he give up the other woman. You would gain nothing by going home to your mother. Possibly your husband has lost interest in you because of some fault of your own. You may have lost his respect, because you show that you are afraid of him and comply with his wishes too readily when you should show more independence.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Some months ago I met a boy and took a liking to him and he did me. I went with him for some time and then went away. He wrote to me all the time I was away and when I came back he came to see me a few times. But then he stopped. I called him up and he would not come and tell me what the matter was. I like him awfully well. How can I win his love without his knowing anything about it?
(2) Is a boy of 20 too old to go with a girl of 16?

BROWN EYES.
(1) The less you do the more apt he will be to come back to you.
(2) A girl of 16 is too young to go with a boy of 20.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a middle-aged woman. I was married about eight years ago. My husband and I lived together about two years and were not very happy. I was sick in bed. One day he told me that he was going away to work and would send for me later. And so he left me alone without one penny. He wrote me three letters. In the last one he told me he was going farther away. That was six years ago. I have not heard directly from him since. I am writing to a man who does not live in the same town I do. We have been corresponding for three years and he wants to
